bistro (Fr) ; café, coffeehouse, grill, buvette (Fr) ; rathskeller, caberet.

Bistro is Russian for 'quick' and Russian troops, entering Paris in 1815, were all yelling 'bistro' at the top of their voices ... they were starving and wanted sustenance in a hurry !

The bistro first became popular in 1940's Paris when it might have been a café or a snack bar or even a small restaurant

Café, in French, does not indicate an establishment that serves food ... "drinks" are all you can guarantee at cafes.
